CREATE GOOD JOBS

Ramiro built his professional career in economic development and job creation, so he knows firsthand how to get the economy moving again.

IMPROVE HEALTH CARE

Ramiro wants better and affordable health care. And, he supports a full-fledged medical school in South Texas to meet the growing demand for doctors.

BROADEN ACCESS TO EDUCATION

Ramiro understands education is the key to success for people and our nation. He'll work to broaden access so dreams can become a reality.

EXPAND TRANSPORTATION

Ramiro is working to build an interstate system, known as I-69, that improves port access and allows communities to better compete in the marketplace.

ENSURE RETIREMENT SECURITY

Ramiro believes a dignified retirement is central to the American Dream, so he'll fight to protect Medicare and Social Security.

Ramiro's Story

Born in Brownsville and Raised in Port Isabel

Ramiro grew up in a working family where food stamps and public housing helped them make it through difficult economic times. His parents' hard work and their "never give up" attitude, taught Ramiro and his younger sister and brother that any challenge could be overcome.

Graduated from The University of Texas at Brownsville - Texas Southmost College

With the sudden death of his father, Ramiro decided to stay in South Texas to help care for his mom and family. He earned a Bachelor's in Finance and Master's in Business Administration at UTB-TSC.

Made a Career Out of Creating Jobs

Ramiro spent his entire career in the area of economic development, working to create jobs and economic opportunities for South Texas. He helped create more than 10,000 jobs for this area.

- Edinburg City Manager
- Executive Director for the Edinburg Economic Development Corporation
- Economic Development Corporation Administrator for the City of Port Isabel
- Business Development Specialist for the One Stop Capital Shop
